Porsche Classic Partner

Welcome Home

Real classics need special care.
Most importantly you need a team of experts.

Your Porsche is far more than a sports car. It is a classic car and an artefact. As such, it deserves special attention. Attention that meets the high standard of genuine parts and repair that you expect from Porsche. The Porsche dealer network and especially the Porsche Classic Partners will be happy to assist. For you, this primarily means that a team of experts awaits.

Porsche Classic looks after cars which have been out of production for 10 years or more. In short: the 356, 914, 959 and 911 up to and including type 996, all four- and eight-cylinder models, such as the 924, 928, 944 and 968, as well as the Porsche Boxster, type 986, and the Carrera GT super sports car.

How are classic cars created? By giving them the time to become just that.

Over 70 percent of all Porsche vehicles ever built are still on the road today – and have therefore become genuine classic cars. This is no coincidence, but the result of first-class service from Porsche Classic. With their detailed knowledge of all Porsche cars, the use of genuine parts and great dedication, Porsche Classic Partners create the ideal conditions for supporting the longevity of these models. And offer the owners of much coveted Porsche classic cars a comprehensive, professional service.

How do you recognise a Porsche Classic Partner? By their knowledge, skill and passion.

And above all by the fact that they will assist you with everything you and your classic car require. The exterior flags tell you instantly that you have come to the right place – a Porsche Classic Partner. Inside, the Classic Corner awaits, with a wealth of information and inspiration. Discover our model history, be inspired by historic exhibition vehicles or find out about spare parts and accessories as well as the production of the Original Porsche Crest. The cabinets displaying our new editions are also worth a look. Because as well as visual impressions, they also contain exciting product information.

What advice and information does your Porsche Classic Partner offer?
That which is perfectly tailored to you and your classic car.

In addition to a Classic specialist contact, selected technicians, parts sales staff and service advisors are also available. They are all Classic experts and have undergone a special training and certification programme at our headquarters in Stuttgart-Zuffenhausen. Your Porsche Classic Partner will tell you about the entire Classic service portfolio, the extensive range of genuine parts and new part editions and will be happy to advise you about your order. As they are extremely familiar with your Porsche, they can provide detailed information about the typical features and characteristics of your model. When it comes to maintenance and repair, you are also in the best possible hands at your Porsche Classic Partner. Because as well as excellent specialist knowledge, they also have the necessary special tools and model-specific technical literature.

Classic, but always up to date.
Attend an event to learn about the latest news and developments.

Porsche Classic always offers a special experience. This includes special Classic events which are the perfect place to find out more about what Classic Partners can do. The relevant event dates are always available on your Porsche Classic Partner's website, along with information about new developments, product highlights and re-introduced parts. Visit us at one of our shows. We look forward to seeing you and enjoying a discussion about your classic Porsche.
