Porsche emergency information sheets have been produced exclusively for emergency services with relevant professional training in assisting people following accidents, and they must be used only for that purpose.

The information they provide includes details of vehicle construction, passive safety systems and alternative drive systems, and a description of the various available equipment options.

Porsche does not claim to have expertise regarding emergency operations. All emergency services must therefore assess this information before using it in an emergency situation and develop strategies and decisions based on their specialist knowledge. We recommend that all emergency services examine representative Porsche vehicles in order to fully understand this information.
